Masterclass on Writing Task 1

From a series of one-hour videos focusing on each part of the test. Our IELTS experts describe the structure of the test and marking criteria; explain the types of questions to expect followed by a detailed look at how to tackle them. They include tips on test techniques and skills development as well opportunities to practise.

The Writing Task 1 Masterclass is available via the 'Preparation blog' section of the IDP Europe website: <https://www.ielts-europe.org/post/ielts-writing-task-1-masterclass>

In this 1-hour video Masterclass on Writing Task 1, we look at how to approach the questions in this part of the test, providing tips and tools needed to improve candidates' writing scores. We cover the 3 key things you need to do when answering all Task 1 questions, including the less common map and process questions.

We also cover:

- Specific vocabulary and grammar to use
- The marking criteria in detail, so candidates know exactly what the examiner is looking for
- Dos and don'ts for this part of the test
- Interactive sections to let you try out our tips and advice.

A variety of posts providing tips and strategies for Writing Task 1.

IELTS Writing

- Write an introduction that paraphrases the question
- Think about using the passive voice
- Think about what tense to use [normally present simple]
- Use sequencing words such as firstly, next, then, after this, finally
- Write the overview summarising the process and number of steps or stages involved
- Don't forget to include specific data [temperature in this example]

Try writing an answer to this process.
